

GENERAL ELECTION 2017

Will your candidates support global justice?

More than any general election in recent memory, this one will be about Britain's place in the world. We need to fight for a parliament that champions global justice – before, during and after Brexit.

Keep this leaflet near your front door or take it to hustings, so you can ask candidates where they stand on key global justice issues.

Global Justice
Now

Doorstep challenge

What to ask canvassers when they come knocking

On trade

We've been told that Brexit gives us the opportunity to negotiate dozens of new trade deals – including with Donald Trump's US. But this could threaten our NHS, and access to healthcare around the world because trade deals often favour privatisation over public solutions to healthcare.

If elected

- How can we trust you to ensure the NHS is legally protected in any trade deals we do with Trump's USA?

On immigration

A growing wave of hatred is directed against immigrants, fed by reporting in newspapers like the Daily Mail. Demonising immigrants has a real impact on people's lives and feeds a small-minded politics which sees people from elsewhere as a threat.

If elected

- What would you do to tackle the pervasive hate speech on immigration in the British media?

On climate

We have supported grassroots campaigns to take energy distribution out of the hands of the 'big six' corporations so that it could be run democratically at a local level, ensuring prices are fairer and energy sources are more renewable.

If elected

- Will you support the establishment of publicly controlled energy companies capable of providing more sustainable energy at fairer prices?

Global Justice Now is a democratic membership organisation that fights inequality and injustice.

Global Justice Now, 66 Offley Road, London SW9 0LS • 020 7820 4900 • offleyroad@globaljustice.org.uk • globaljustice.org.uk